

Your INL Update — Week of Feb. 28, 2011

This is Nicole Stricker with your INL Update.

Eighth-grade students from Idaho Falls, Bonneville County and Twin Falls will visit Idaho National Laboratory this week for the fourth annual My Amazing Future seminar, which is designed to showcase career and education opportunities in science and technology. The visiting young women will participate in a full day of hands-on workshops, discussions and demonstrations.

Did you leave the lights on again? The Center for Advanced Energy Studies, or CAES, is leading a new statewide research program that will study energy-saving technologies and consumer behavior. Read more about the CAES Energy Efficiency Research Initiative in a new feature story on INL's home page.

Gather your friends and family for a night of bowling alongside INL employees to support Big Brothers Big Sisters of Southeast Idaho. At "Bowl for Kids Sake," you can join the fun at Friday's late-night party bowl in either Idaho Falls or Pocatello. Visit bbsid.org for more information.

This was your INL Update. You'll find more information at inl.gov, including community announcements and the latest INL news.